Back to School: Tips, Strategies, and Supports for Students with Special Needs

Please join us for an informative session designed to equip parents and caregivers with practical strategies and resources for supporting special needs students as they transition back to school.

Topics covered:

- ❖ Preparing for the school year
- ❖ Strategies for success in the classroom
- ❖ Accessing support at school
- ❖ Tools for effective communication between parents, teachers, and students

What is the Special Education Parent Empowerment Program?

The Parent Empowerment Program (PEP) is a new addition to Taconic Resources for Independence, Inc. (TRI). PEP provides training and information to families of children and young adults with disabilities, between the ages of 3 and 22. TRI's Special Education program offers specialized and collaborative advocacy training, parent-to-parent networking and support, information, and referral services.
